TOUR HIGHLIGHTS

BETTER READ TOURS

Discover Oxford, ‘the city of dreaming spires’, and have a restorative ale in the pub where C.S. Lewis and J.R.R. Tolkien first shared their enchanted worlds. Walk in Shakespeare’s footsteps throughout Stratford-upon-Avon, sojourn in the historic inn where the Great Bard drank mead, and read the curse he cast on anyone who would dare to disturb his grave. Visit Stow-on-the-Wold (where the wind blows cold!) an ancient market town at the crossroads of several major roads dating back to Roman times. Wander through some of England’s most enchanting gardens, and be inspired by romantic castles, mysterious stone circles, thatched cottages and haunted manor halls.

On three afternoon tours, you will discover the most fascinating historical and literary sites that the region has to offer. One evening you will learn the history of Stratford-upon-Avon on a spine-tingling tour through town, and on another you’ll see a play at the Royal Shakespeare Theatre, one of the world’s most esteemed production houses. On the remaining afternoons and evenings you are free to write in your room or at a local bar or café, or join in an informal writing circle with the other participants. Or you may explore the many charming shops, museums, literary sites, manors and castles in the area. Let your imagination decide!

Dr Kate Forsyth is an award-winning author, poet, and storyteller. She wrote her first novel at the age of seven and since become an internationally best-selling novelist and creative non-fiction writer.

Recently called 'one of the finest writers of this generation', Kate has written more than 40 books, for all age groups and across many genres, and has published in 20 countries.

Kate's first published books, The Witches of Eileanan, were inspired by a dream she had when she was only sixteen. Ten years later she began to turn the dream into a story, which ended up as a series of nine books, still loved and quoted across the world today.

Kate's most recent book, The Crimson Thread, is a retelling of the minotaur in the labyrinth myth set in the Greek island of Crete during the Nazi invasion and occupation. Other novels for adults include Bitter Greens, which won the 2015 American Library Award for Best Historical Fiction; and The Wild Girl which was named the Most Memorable Love Story of 2013.

Kate's forthcoming novel Psyche (available mid-2024) is a retelling of the ancient myth of Psyche as a life-affirming celebration of feminine desire, strength and disobedience.

Kate was recently awarded the Nancy Keesing Fellowship by the State Library of NSW to research and write a bibliomemoir inspired by her ancestor, Charlotte Waring Atkinson, the author of the first book for children published in Australia. Searching for Charlotte: The Fascinating Story of Australia's First Children's Author was written with her sister Belinda Murrell and longlisted for the 2021 Indie Book Awards. Other recent collaborative projects include Alchemy, a book of art and poetry created with the Archibald Prize winning artist Wendy Sharpe.

Kate has a BA in literature, a MA in creative writing, and a Doctorate of Creative Arts in fairy tale studies. She is also an accredited 'master storyteller' with the Australian Guild of Storytellers. Kate has taught writing retreats in Australia, Fiji, Greece, and the United Kingdom.

All genres of fiction have their own conventions and characteristics, which can sometimes seem like unbreakable rules. By drawing together different elements of different genres, however, the writer can create ground-breaking novels of great freshness and originality.

For seven days, Kate will share with you all the secrets she has learned about writing stories which fire the imagination, touch the heart, and keep readers turning pages long into the night.

Whether you are working on a medieval supernatural thriller, a time travel romance, a children's fantasy adventure, a contemporary novel that draws on ancient myths, or a historical novel about the lives of forgotten women... you will discover your muse in this week-long inspirational retreat.

For seven days, from 9am to 12 noon, you will write, read, listen, learn and discuss all aspects of creative writing, from first discovering your story to finding a publisher.

WHAT YOU'LL LEARN

- The key conventions of the world's most popular literary genres (including contemporary and historical fiction, dual timelines, crime and mystery, romance, horror, fantasy and magic realism).
- What rules to keep and what rules can be broken.
- Storytelling patterns and structures.
- What kind of research you need to do to bring your story to life.
- The importance of voice, and how to find it.
- Building characters that are vivid and vital.
- Creating a strong sense of time and place.
- Suspense and the art of surprise.
- How to connect to your creative flow, and consistently find the time and space to write the story you've always dreamed of bringing to life.

Stratford-upon-Avon: The birthplace of William Shakespeare, steeped in centuries of culture and history.

With more than 800 years of history, Stratford-upon-Avon is a quintessential medieval Cotswolds town with thatched cottages and quaint shopfronts, honey-coloured stone buildings and verges frothing with wildflowers. Yet it also has all the shops, pubs, restaurants and modern conveniences you could hope for, without losing any of its period charm.

While we have already curated for you some of the best experiences Stratford-upon-Avon has to offer, on your afternoons off there is much for you to explore. Visit the butterfly farm, or walk along the river for writing inspiration, watching the swans glide by. Pick up an enchanted talisman at the local magic shop, or potter through the town's wonderful antique, book and curios stores. See a play performed by the Royal Shakespeare Company, or even drift over the Cotswolds in a hot air balloon!

The writing retreat is held in the historic White Swan hotel, which dates all the way back to 1450 (making it one of the oldest buildings in town) and features many incredible artefacts from that era. Imagine yourself enjoying a drink in the hotel's centuries-old bar after a day of writing – a pleasure Shakespeare himself very likely enjoyed at the White Swan too!

The hotel is a short stroll away from almost all the town's most famous sights, such as the Great Bard's birthplace, Anne Hathaway's house, Holy Trinity Church where Shakespeare's body rests, the Royal Shakespeare Company theatre, and the picturesque River Avon. You'll also find a wide range of pubs, shops, cafés, museums and restaurants within walking distance from the hotel.

B-MT-D DAY 7
SATURDAY 29 JUNE
DANGEROUS WRITING
9AM-12PM

Good writing is dangerous writing. It is not afraid to surprise and shock, to unsettle and make uneasy, to seduce and subvert. Yet many people find it hard to write scenes of sex and violence, or to kill off favourite characters, or to touch on matters that might upset or repulse. How far can you go in your own writing? Are there any topics that remain taboo? Should you be worried about what your friends and family may think? Is it forgivable to draw upon true life stories, whether your own or other people's? We discuss the dangers and pleasures of dangerous writing.

FREE AFTERNOON

We advise checking what's on during your stay to make the most of Stratford-upon-Avon's lively weekend revelry and atmosphere.

An evening at the theatre! Meet Kate in the hotel at 5pm to walk to a local restaurant for an early dinner before catching a play at the Royal Shakespeare Company theatre, which begins at 7:15pm sharp. A quintessential Stratford-upon-Avon experience.

B-MT-D DAY 8
SUNDAY 30 JUNE
THE WRITER'S LIFE
9AM-12PM

Writing a novel is only part of a writer's life. Writers must also learn to rewrite and edit, to proofread, to work with editors and publishers and publicists, to promote, to teach, and to manage social media and marketing. At the same time, writers must try to find a balance between work, art and life.

Writing can become an all-consuming obsession, ruinous to one's health and relationships. If managed well, however, it can become a source of enormous creative fulfilment and a lucrative career choice. How can you avoid the first and achieve the second? This session will also leave plenty of time for all your questions!

FREE AFTERNOON

Time to squeeze in those final 'must-do' activities in town! Or simply relax in a café and write.

In the evening we attend our Farewell Dinner at a magical, mystery location. Meet Kate in the lobby at 5:30pm to catch a taxi to dinner. Prepare to be spellbound!

B DAY 9

MONDAY 1 JULY
FAREWELL TO CREATIVE WRITING IN THE COTSWOLDS

Enjoy your final breakfast and check out of the White Swan hotel in time for coach pickup, at 9:30am, to Oxford station. As we say farewell to our writing retreat we leave with newfound friendships, inspiration and rekindled drive to pursue your writing dream.
